Your Notion templates

Click, duplicate, done. Both are pre-loaded with sample data so the structure is obvious. Delete the samples once yours are in.

BONUS 1 / THE LEAD & FOLLOW-UP TRACKER

hilarious-writer-9d3.notion.site/Lead-Follow-Up-Tracker-39ab50054c47805890c6fe4d73e3decf

What's inside: the full pipeline table with Touch Stage and Status, a Due This Week view that runs your Monday, a Pipeline board, and the Monday 20-minute routine written out. Open the link, hit Duplicate top-right, and it's yours.

BONUS 2 / THE SOP LIBRARY

hilarious-writer-9d3.notion.site/SOP-Library-39ab50054c4780e49ad7e2e56ffe63b3

What's inside: the SOP database with categories and status, a New SOP template button pre-structured with the right headings, the brain-dump prompt one click away, and your five starter SOPs already created as drafts, including a finished Client Onboarding SOP.

■ NEVER USED NOTION?

It's free, and the video below walks you through both duplications in under 5 minutes. If you'd rather not use Notion at all, the paper Follow-Up Tracker in the Worksheets file does the same job.

The video walkthroughs

Reading a system and watching it run are different things. Watch these once each.

VIDEO 1 / THE 30-MINUTE INBOX, LIVE (12-15 MIN)

[PASTE VIDEO 1 UNLISTED LINK]

I run the full Module 1 workflow on a real inbox: the bulk archive, the two-bucket triage, the 5-word trick, batch drafting with the Voice Profile, and the 30-second edit. Watch for the pace: the point is how little deliberation each email gets.

VIDEO 2 / NOTION SETUP IN 5 MINUTES (3-5 MIN)

[PASTE VIDEO 2 UNLISTED LINK]

Duplicating both templates, loading your first three leads, and setting the Monday reminder. Nothing else. By the end, your tracker is live.

BEST ORDER

Watch Video 1 before your Day 2 sprint session, and Video 2 right before Day 6. Each one turns that day's session into pure execution.

The 4 emails, finished

Generate your own with Prompts 05 to 08, or adapt these. Swap the [brackets], run them through your voice, save as templates.

■ EMAIL 1 / THE WELCOME (SEND WITHIN 1 HOUR OF SIGNING)

Subject: Welcome aboard, [first name]. Here's what happens next

Hi [first name],

Welcome aboard. Here's exactly what happens next: today you'll get [first deliverable or access step, eg. "a short intake form, takes 10 minutes"], and by [day] we'll have [first milestone] done and your kickoff call booked.

After that, the rhythm is simple: [one sentence describing your delivery cadence]. You'll always know what's happening and what's next.

Questions any time: just reply to this email. I read everything.

Glad to have you with us,
[Name]

■ EMAIL 2 / THE KICKOFF PREP (SEND 24 HOURS BEFORE THE CALL)

Subject: Tomorrow's kickoff: 2 minutes of prep

Hi [first name],

Looking forward to our kickoff tomorrow at [time], here's the link: [meeting link].

We'll cover three things: where you are now, what done looks like, and the plan to get there. To make the most of it, have a quick think about [one specific prep question relevant to your service].

That's it. See you tomorrow,
[Name]

The 4 emails, continued

■ EMAIL 3 / THE POST-KICKOFF RECAP (SEND SAME DAY AS THE CALL)

Subject: Recap + next steps from today's call

Hi [first name],

Great call today. Here's where we landed:

What we agreed: [2-3 bullets of decisions].

Next steps: [step] ([owner], by [date]); [step] ([owner], by [date]).

Timeline: [one line, e.g. "first deliverable lands Friday, full rollout by the 30th"].

If I've missed anything or you'd frame something differently, hit reply and we'll fix it now rather than in week three.

Talk soon,

[Name]

■ EMAIL 4 / THE WEEK 1 CHECK-IN (SCHEDULE FOR 7 DAYS AFTER KICKOFF)

Subject: One week in. How's it feeling?

Hi [first name],

We're a week in, so a quick pulse check: how are you finding the process so far? Anything unclear, anything you need from me, anything you expected that hasn't shown up yet?

One line back is plenty. I'd rather fix something small now than discover it later.

[Name]

■ WHY EMAIL 4 MATTERS MOST

It catches problems while they're still one sentence long, and it signals that you check in without being asked. Clients remember that at renewal time.

THAT'S THE FULL KIT

Now go run the sprint.

Workbook for the systems. Prompt Pack by your inbox. Worksheets printed. Sprint Card pinned up. Templates duplicated. Videos watched. Day 1 is 30 minutes, and it starts whenever you do.
